Telephone communications.

The telephone code of is +374. When calling to Armenia from other countries, it is necessary to dial the country code.

Currency and Credit cards

Currency exchange offices are located at every step. They accept US dollar, Euro, Russian ruble, Georgian lari. As well as currency exchange offices, ATMs are located almost everywhere. Credit cards can be used to pay at shopping malls, shops, restaurants, cafes, etc. Cash can be withdrawn at bank branches and ATMs. It is best to withdraw cash in Yerevan.

In shops and other retail outlets, trade is carried out only in the national currency. It is not difficult to change currency into drams, as there are exchange offices everywhere. A passport is not required for currency transactions. In Armenia, you can cash out: Visa Card, Master Card, Euro Card, Maestro Card, Armenian Card.

Weather (Latest update to be checked before the departure)

The weather in Armenia in April is already conducive to long walks. In some cities, the thermometer rises quite high. For example, in the afternoon in Yerevan in April it is +17 degrees, in the area of Mount Ararat – +14. The coldest is in Tsakhkadzor ski resort and on the territory of Lake Sevan – +7 degrees. The water in the lake warms up to only +5. The night weather in Armenia is still cool, and sub-zero temperatures are observed in some areas. This applies to the mountain resort and the lake. But in Yerevan and Ararat it is already quite warm – from +4 to +7 degrees.

Tipping

Tipping is not mandatory in Armenia, but it is certainly appreciated – especially in restaurants and cafes where wages are low. If the service was good and you can afford it, please consider leaving a generous tip for your waiter (10-15% is standard).

Smoking

Smoking ban in all indoor public places comes into force in Armenia. The law on tobacco control has come into force today meaning that smoking in public places such as bars, restaurants and offices is forbidden.

Shopping

Armenia offers excellent shopping opportunities for both exclusively traditional Armenian items and items of world-famous brands. Shopping in the country is concentrated in the capital, Yerevan, the city is the largest and most developed in Armenia.

Hotel Accommodation

Check in at the hotel, usually takes place after 14:00 -15:00 hrs (Check-in time may differ in different hotel).

Upon arrival for accommodation at the hotel you need to present your passport.

It is also recommended that you take a hotel's visiting card so that, if you get lost in the city, go back without problems to the hotel.

When leaving the hotel, pay for additional services and take a document confirming payment.

UNDERSTAND THE DRESS CODE FOR VISITING RELIGIOUS SITES

There is a strict dress code for visiting Orthodox churches, monasteries and convents in Armenia. The same applies for mosques. For men, this means covered knees (no shorts) and covered shoulders (no singlet tops). Women must cover their shoulders and knees as well, and cover their hair. Some churches in rural areas require women to be wearing a long skirt rather than fitted pants. In my experience, a long jacket that's zipped up will do
